

Large Area Switches

Advanced Large-Area Press Switch

This unique switch is designed to be door or frame mounted, so that it is accessible from both sides. It is typically used to control magnetic locks and is found in high-tech commercial and industrial settings, as well as on subway, train, and monorail applications.

Tapeswitch can custom manufacture to virtually any door thickness. Assembly is weather and washdown resistant. Single or double-sided versions are available.

The Advanced Press Switch is also ideal for handicap access, or any large recessed switching applications.
